

CAREER AND LIFE PLANNING EXERCISE

Prioritizing Offers

Prioritizing Offers

This exercise will help evaluate your offers in a side-by-side analysis.

Objectives:

In this exercise, the participant will:

- Complete a side-by-side analysis of competing offers based on findings from previous exercise activities. They will:
 - Extrapolate requisite data from previous exercise activities to populate the designated fields in this worksheet.
 - Identify specific pros and cons that would constitute deal makers or deal breakers in your analysis.

Prioritizing Offers

How to Use This Tool:

Complete the information in the worksheet using the requisite information from previous exercises. Complete a side-by-side analysis including careful considerations of your deal makers and breakers.

Prioritizing Offers

Instructions:

It's decision-making time. Write the totals from the three preceding worksheets in the space below. Then, for each offer, record pros and cons based on what you like and don't like about that offer or hospital/group. Remember to consider things that may not have been accounted for on the worksheets, like the start date and term of employment. Do any of the cons represent deal breakers? Why or why not?
